Gary Schlingheider

Painting and sculpture are mutually dependent in the work of Gary Schlingheider and arise from the preoccupation with the transgression of boundaries between the two genres. Colour and form form the focus of the painter and sculptor's work. He works in large formats, with powerful opaque colours and geometric, reduced bodies. With a reference to art historical models such as the Minimalists, Ellsworth Kelly or Frank Stella, Schlingheider explores the boundaries between painting and sculpture anew.
